R.J Garner CPA & Associates, PLC and Robinson, Farmer, Cox & Associates announce merger of firms

Charlottesville, VA, December 8, 2017--Bob Garner of R. J. Garner CPA & Associates and Robert Huff of Robinson, Farmer, Cox Associates announce the merger of their firms.

While both firms provide a broad array of individual and business tax services, the larger Robinson, Farmer, Cox & Associates also has a robust and industry-leading government and commercial audit practice, serving clients through its network of six offices located strategically throughout Virginia.

Garner, a CPA, a Certified Financial Planner, and a Certified Risk Management Associate, spent the first 31 years of his career with Ernst & Young, providing audit, tax and consulting services to his clients while resident in several domestic and international practice offices with that firm. He founded his Charlottesville practice in 2004, a year after retiring from EY, and has built since then a multi-state client base which he served from Charlottesville, VA. Garner commented that the tremendous Virginia-based client serving resources of Robinson, Farmer Cox Associates (RFC) will enable him to continue providing outstanding service to his current clients while also broadening the array of services he can offer to existing and new clients.

The combined firm will operate as Robinson, Farmer, Cox Associates; Garner will be located in the firm's Charlottesville, VA offices at 530 and 532 Westfield Road.
